You are lovely

Bm                  C                              G                          D
Lord, when You lift your voice it's like no other voice I know.
Bm                  C                              G                          D
Lord, when You lift your hand all the kingdoms of Earth are laid low.
Em                   Am                Em                      Am
And when You say the word, every sickness is cured.

Bm                  C                              G                          D
Lord, when You call my name, wherever You say, I will go.
Bm                  C                              G                          D
Lord, when You come again every person will know.
Em                   Am                Em                      Am
And when You show your face, no one will stay the same.

Bm                  C                              G                          D
Lord when You sing your song all of creation will know.
Bm                  C                              G                          D
Lord, when You show your strength let justice and righteousness flow.
Em                   Am                Em                      Am
When we see your holiness, every tongue will confess.

Bm                  C                              G                          D
Lord, when You lift your voice it's like no other voice I know.
